eConsent platforms such as Florence enable users to take the traditional wet-ink consent process electronically, opening the door to remote consent workflows and more.

The regulations surrounding the use of eConsent vary throughout different jurisdictions. In order to further advance cures, Florence has reviewed global regulations to help sites and sponsors determine where eSignatures can be utilized in the consenting process. Before utilizing an eConsent system for clinical investigations, the sponsor or other regulated entity should ensure the system used for eConsent is approved for use in the applicable jurisdictions by the local ethics committee and the regulatory authorities.
